

BEST PRACTICE 2024

Tobias Larsson

Fresh minds to push industrial innovation?!

Education is not only about preparing students for a life in industry (reality), but also about moving the existing reality into the new normal by the hands of these fresh students. For more than 25 years we have created capstone project courses where industry (and society) have met the minds of students, and seen amazing results happen. Automotive, aerospace, medicine, healthcare, municipality; many are the application areas that our students from engineering have embarked upon.

Trust the process!

An approach where collaboration is built upon setting the rules of the upcoming collaboration, and coaching the partners to trust the process have created remarkable results and knowledge shifts over the years.

ReGlove, 2020

Come to the presentation to hear how we are working with the complex learning experiences that many times are the key memories for students in their education journey.
